

Kirchhoffer Lodge

Delta Marsh, Manitoba

Enjoy some time relaxing at Historic Kirchhoffer Lodge!

Take the opportunity to stay at the historic Kirchhoffer Lodge, built by then-senator John Kirchhoffer of Brandon in 1914 in anticipation of a return visit by King George. This is the birthplace of Delta Waterfowl, a non-profit duck hunting and conservation organization.

The vaulted ceiling of the lodge's main room shelters a few tasteful big game animals. Enjoy some time in front of the fire, chat on the big couches for a while, spend time in the screened-in porch while looking out at the Marsh or take the interpretive walk ending up at the Observation Tower. At the end of the day, head to your wood-paneled room with a comfortable single bed or bunk beds.

Ideal for a day trip for a meeting, or multiple days for a smaller group as Kirchhoffer can house up to 8 guests. We're open to weddings, business meetings or family gatherings.
